Varnished Cambric Insulated Cabels for Normal Works.

Gentlemen,

No. S. P. C. 8933-72. I request you to be so good as to intimate your best present day prices and the earliest time of delivery for the V. C. I. Cables as per enclosed schedule.

The manufacture and the materials used in the construction of the cables shall fully conform to the latest B. S. S. or A. I. E. E. or I. P. C. E. A. Standards and particularly to the following specifications :—

The conductors shall be of the highest conductivity electrolytic copper. The varnished cambric insulation shall be of the highest grade (black asphaltic base) and shall be applied in the form of helically-wound tape with an insulating compound between alternate layers. Its tensile strength measured lengthwise before application shall not be less than 3,000 lbs. per sq. inch and in the case of samples taken out after application to a cable, it shall not be less than 2,400 lbs. per sq. inch. The average breakdown strength of insulation before application to the cable, it shall not be less than 1050 volts per mil at 25°C nor less than 850 volts per mil at 75°C. The die-electric strength of samples taken after application to a cable shall not be less than 80 per cent of the value before cabling as mentioned above.

They shall be suitable for use in a tropical climate. They will be required to be supplied in the longest manufactured lengths wound on non-returnable wooden reels suitably lagged and protected against damage during shipment or overland transport.

The cables will be required to be tested before despatch and test certificates thereof will have to be furnished along with the invoices.

They should furnish along with your quotations full specifications and the details of construction of the cables offered together with the following particulars without which your quotations will not be considered.

1 Overall diameter of cable
